ANY BOY MAY LEARN.

ONE WAY OF BECOMING A VALUABLE NEWSPAPER WRITER.

How a Country Boy Who is Not Able to Go to College May Train His Mind So as to Be Able to Enter Journalism—Acquire Information on Every Subject.

Let me point out a way in which the lad on a farm or in a country village, who does not see his way clear to a college education, can get another kind of education that will serve him about as well, and in some things better, when he begins to do newspaper work.

Remember that education has generally two purposes—to train the mind and to store it with knowledge. My plan for the country boy does both. Here it is:

Think of yourself as standing on one side of an imaginary line, and the great world, with all its men and women and governments and institutions, on the other. Cross the line and find out in what way and through what things you come in contact with the world. Then study those ways, and those things until you know all about them or until you know as much as you can find out about them. This is what a sociologist would call determining the relation of the individual to the aggregate or the relation of man to society. Let us explain the process a little.

You will be pretty sure to discover that you have relations with the great world through the school, the church, the government, through trade or business, and socially through your friends and companions. That is not all, but that will do very well to begin with.

First get all the information you can about the school system of your state. Ask the teacher all the questions you can think of. If you are a country boy, there is probably a prudential committee in your district. Ask him what he has to do. Then get at the superintending committee and ask him questions.

Find out where the money comes from to build schoolhouses and pay the teacher. If you live in a village large enough to have graded schools, find out how the system is organized, from the primary grade up to the high school. Let nothing escape you that you can possibly learn.

Then the churches in your town—study them. You may not find it easy to get at the differences of belief that separate the Methodists from the Baptists and the Congregationalists from the Presbyterians, but your minister or any minister will probably lend you books that will tell something about creeds and faiths.

Then make yourself a master of the system of government or control in the various churches. Inquire what churches have bishops, what ones elders, what ones deacons, and what the powers and duties of these church officers are. In short, learn in how many ways, and go as far as you can, why one church organization is different from another.

Next comes government. It is a big subject—take it up in detail. Your father is a county commissioner or a schoolman or a town clerk. That is a capital opportunity. Get him to tell you all he knows about the duties of town and county officers—who lays out new roads and closes old ones, who sees to it that the paupers are housed and fed, who determines how large a sum shall be raised by taxes in the town, how much each taxpayer's share shall be and what shall be done with the money.

If one of your father's neighbors is a member of the legislature, persuade him to tell you how bills are introduced, referred to committees, reported, discussed, amended and passed or enacted as laws. He will tell you that bills, after they have been passed by the assembly or house of representatives, must be passed also by the senate and signed by the governor, but that only opens up new fields for your investigation.

If perchance another neighbor is to go as a delegate to the Republican or the Democratic convention to help nominate his party's candidate for the presidency, get him to tell you all about the party machinery by which conventions are assembled and candidates named; about the town caucuses, the county or district convention, the state convention, the national convention and the delegates to it, their number and their duties; also about the electoral college and its work.

This will lead you into inquiries and studies in respect to parties and politics and state and federal governments that will be in the highest degree interesting and profitable.

So in regard to business. Ask the village storekeeper where he buys his goods, his crockery, his molasses and his hardware, and where they were got by the man of whom he bought them, and so on until you have traced them to their origin. You will in this way learn something of wholesale trade and manufacturing, something about notes, credits, insurance, transportation by rail and water and quite likely something about the tariff.

Opportunities for this kind of home study and training will multiply as you follow them up until the field of research broadens out surprisingly. Your mind will broaden with it, and in following out these pleasant paths of common knowledge you will acquire a fund of information that will be constantly useful to you in future years of newspaper work.—Henry R. Miller in Youth's Companion.

Remarkable Unanimity.

Some one writes from London: "It happened to be present the other day at a small boy's birthday party. The host and his guests were alike, all shoots of the nobility. It was really a charming sight, the long table lavishly adorned and lined about with rosy faces, each backed by an accompanying liveried footman or white-capped maid. The gentle lady mother who presided glided about talking to one and another, and finally she called for silence.

"When supper is finished, you can choose your amusement, my loves," she said. "What would you like best to do?"

As with one voice came the answer in a roar. "Fight!"—New York Times.

CROOKED CUSTOMS OFFICERS.

It has been repeatedly charged that a large percentage of the dutiable goods coming to the United States were admitted free or upon the payment of a nominal duty, through the connivance of crooked customs house officials. The accidental bursting of a package by falling off a dory in the San Francisco custom house proved that those charges were well founded, as it revealed the fact that goods invoiced as cotton were high priced woolens. A few bales in each consignment contained such goods as the invoice indicated and these bales were invariably selected for inspection by the customs officers. Now it is shown that crookedness of the character accidentally disclosed in San Francisco has been practiced in the New York custom house for years, and that not only the revenue, but honest importers, who did not understand division and silence, were defrauded by officials, who were paid by the people to collect the duty on imported articles.

The New York Dry Goods Chronicle makes explicit charges of corruption in the special examiner's department of the appraiser's office at the port of New York. It says from time to time the papers have referred to maladministration by customs officials and efforts have been made to bring the perpetrators to justice, but the ring in the Secretary of the treasury's office at Washington, with its connections in the custom house, prevented investigation. The last year and a half of Harrison's administration was notorious for the discovery of frauds in the custom service at New York. The cases involved criminally about one hundred persons connected with the custom service, but not more than two or three were punished. Proof was ample, but politicians were powerful and when necessary their power was invoked to save a head. Smuggling was carried on by wholesale and when an officer, who was not in the ring sought to prevent it he was detailed for duties that would keep him away from the docks. When the evidence of fraud was so glaringly apparent that a semblance of honesty had to be assumed, the cases were presented to the United States grand jury and that was the last heard of them. It appears that the smuggling ring embraced importers, custom officers and United States district attorneys, and extended to the treasury department at Washington, all sharing in the profits of robbing the people. Those men had most to say about the benefits of protection, while smuggling goods into the country and placing importers who paid duty at a great disadvantage. Political heelers and ward strikers were rewarded by the party they aided in getting into power, with the most responsible positions and then conspired with smugglers to defraud the revenue for a share of the spoils.

TO MAKE MONEY SCARCER.

It has leaked out that during Harrison's administration blank bonds were ordered printed. Now these bonds are being rapidly advanced to completion and will doubtless be issued to purchase gold. Think of increasing the interest bearing debt to please Wall street, when there are millions of ounces of silver in the treasury vaults, which, if coined into standard dollars, would be available for the payment of all government expenses and the redemption of greenbacks and treasury notes! What reasonable person can longer doubt that the financial policy of Cleveland's administration as well as Harrison's, has been dictated by the goldbugs? Secretary Carlisle until recently, was a silver man, now he is imbued with goldbug ideas and does not cancel a government obligation with silver coins.

The people east and west, north and south, complain that there is not money enough per capita in circulation to answer the commercial requirements of the country; yet, instead of coining more money, the government proposes to make money scarcer by issuing bonds for gold to supply the European demand for that metal.

How long will the masses of the people allow political tricksters to keep them divided by demagogic devices so that Wall street can dictate the policy of the administration, whether Democratic or Republican are in the ascendancy?

There should be in name, as there is in fact, only two parties, those who believe in the coinage of gold and silver, the money of the constitution, on equal terms, and those who for selfish purposes, insist on making silver a commodity and establishing a gold standard.

Senator Hill of New York is reported in a recent interview as saying that every appointment made by the president weakens him as it reduces the number of favors he has to bestow, and if he continues as he has been doing there will soon be an anti-administration majority in the Senate.

The Sioux City council reduced the salary of the city marshal to $25 a month, and the marshal proposes in revenge to close all the saloons in town under the state prohibitory law, which will cut off $60,000 a year from the revenues of the city.

The Denver News says that Chairman Carter's call for the National Republican Committee to meet on May 10th sounds like a summons for a coroner's inquest.

The Envoys to Washington Before the Queen.

THE LAST SENATE SESSION.

The Issue of Gold Certificates Suspended.

QUEEN LILLIUOKALANI.

Her Envoys to Washington Arrive in Honolulu.

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL.] HONOLULU (via San Francisco), April 8.—The steamship Alameda, which arrived here yesterday, brought among her passengers Paul Neumann and Prince David Kawanaukoa, the deposed queen's envoys to Washington; W. R. Castle, one of the Hawaiian commissioners, and H. M. Sewell, formerly United States consul-general to Samoa. E. C. McFarlane, another of the exponents of the queen's side, was also aboard.

Neumann and Prince David were met by a delegation and escorted to the royal carriage, which was in waiting, and driven rapidly to the residence of Lilliuokalani, where they explained the results of their mission. Seen subsequently Neumann stated that he had enjoyed his trip to Washington. "I went there," he said, "in the interest of the queen to prevent if possible an injustice being done. I favored the appointment of a commissioner to examine into the state of affairs before judgment was pronounced, and I have secured my point. I have brought back no assurance to the queen, but I believe her best assurance lies in the fact that Mr. Blount was appointed and has been sent here."

Commissioner Castle said there was no denying that a reaction had set in in the United States to a certain extent against annexation, but he saw no reason to infer that Cleveland was hostile to an annexation policy. Ex-Congressman Sewell was seen, and in reply to questions, jokingly remarked that it was difficult to keep him out of the Pacific. It has been variously rumored that Sewell is the bearer of important dispatches to Blount or to the provisional government, or that he comes to succeed Minister Stevens or Consul-General Severance, but he keeps his own counsel in the matter. He stated that the removal of the Stars and Stripes would be news to the states, but declined to discuss the merits of the case. Sewell made a lengthy call on Commissioner Blount on the afternoon of his arrival.

Mr. Sewell's own explanation to personal friends is that he is simply down here for pleasure and to study the situation for himself. Little of importance has occurred since the 1st instant, and, despite the rumors that the deposed queen is preparing to again assume authority, affairs outwardly bear an aspect of tranquility.

Issue of Gold Certificates Suspended.

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL.] NEW YORK, April 15.—An order was received at the sub-treasury at New York to-day suspending the issue of gold certificates in accordance with the provisions of the act of congress July 12th, 1892, which says when gold coin or bullion held in the treasury for the redemption of United States notes falls below $100,000,000 the issue of certificates shall cease. The gold certificates in common use are those issued under the act of July 12th, 1892.

The acting assistant treasurer in charge of the sub-treasury said: "This step on the part of the secretary of the treasury simply means the carrying out of the provisions of the law. It does not mean the government will receive any deposits in gold coin and refuse to pay back in kind. Any one who deposits gold coin here will receive legal tender notes; in other words, instead of issuing for gold deposits certificates which are necessarily redeemable in gold, the treasury will issue legal tender notes for which gold will always be paid if demanded."

The only difference which the stopping of these certificates makes is that the treasury department will not issue them for gold as it has been doing. The secretary is merely anticipating the withdrawal of gold, which will probably be made for the shipment for next Tuesday's German steamer. There is no reason for uneasiness because of the step taken by the department. It is the first time the issue of certificates has been suspended because it is the first time the reserve has almost reached the $100,000,000 point, with immediate exports expected. Under a previous act the issue was suspended by Secretary Sherman in 1879.

Disastrous Prairie Fires.

TOPEKA, Kas., April 15.—Reports continue to come in of disastrous prairie fires in the western part of the State. The most destructive one yet reported occurred in Hodgman county Thursday. It swept over the southern half of the county, destroying everything that lay in its path. Many houses and barns were burned up and large numbers of horses and cattle were lost by farmers. It is impossible to estimate the loss.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—The senate held its last executive session this afternoon and every nomination by the president up to date was confirmed, with the exception of Hewson Lannon to be United States marshal for Delaware, which was sent in to-day. The senate by its action in executive session also failed to make public the text of the treaty recently negotiated with Russia, and that convention, along with the treaty with France, remains among the secret archives of the state department and executive clerk of the senate. There is excellent authority for stating that the United States government has concluded a treaty with the government of Ecuador by which the United States is given the right to acquire a coaling station in the Galapagos islands, a position of vantage in the Pacific ocean, and so situated as to be of vast importance to naval vessels. This important concession is the result of negotiations between R. B. Mahoney, United States minister to Ecuador, and the Ecuadorian department of foreign affairs. The treaty, it is said, was signed some time last month and immediately forwarded to Washington. It is believed it was sent to the senate this week and is now in possession of that body awaiting ratification.

Late Honolulu News.

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL.] SAN FRANCISCO, April 15.—The Pacific mail steamer China arrived from Hong Kong and Yokohama via Honolulu this afternoon. She left the latter port two days later than the Mariposa so that there was no expectation that she would bring news of importance. Everything was quiet when she left. The provisional government was holding its own without trouble, as the following extract from the Honolulu Advertiser shows:

"Colonel Blount's mission is as great a mystification as ever and the general public is compelled to substitute its guesses for authentic knowledge as to the facts. If Colonel Blount entertained any doubts as to the power of the government to take care of itself, recent events have probably set them at rest."

Weather Forecast.

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL.] SAN FRANCISCO, April 15.—The forecast for Nevada is fair weather and slightly warmer.

An Elaborate Banquet.

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL.] WASHINGTON, April 15.—The Mexican minister gave a very elaborate banquet to-night in honor of Vice-President Stevenson.

The Senate Adjourns.

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL.] WASHINGTON, April 15.—The senate at 6:17 o'clock adjourned sine die.

A note from Hon. J. H. MacMillan of Ogden says the only one of the 22 trans-Mississippi States of which there is any doubt as to its being represented at the coming congress in that city is Nevada. He thinks the silver question will be discussed at length and the cause of remonetization advance, unless we neglect our interests and allow the goldbugs to capture the convention.

Ayer's Pills

Are compounded with the view to general usefulness and adaptability. They are composed of the purest vegetable aperients. Their delicate sugar-coating, which readily dissolves in the stomach, preserves their full medicinal value and makes them easy to take, either by old or young. For constipation, dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, and the common derangements of the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels; also, to check colds and fevers, Ayer's Pills

Are the Best

Unlike other cathartics, the effect of Ayer's Pills is to strengthen the excretory organs and restore them their regular and natural action. Doctors everywhere prescribe them. In spite of immense competition, they have always maintained their popularity as a family medicine, being in greater demand now than ever before. They are put up both in vials and boxes, and whether for home use or travel, Ayer's Pills are preferable to any other. Have you ever tried them?

Absolutely painless without Chloroform, Gas, Ether or Cocaine.

OFFICE IN STEELE BUILDING, COMMERCIAL ROW, RENO.

Here are a Few Testimonials from Citizens Who have Already Tried the Method:

Dr. Porter—DEAR SIR:—It affords me pleasure to say that the Hale method of painless filling opens a new era in the dental world. After having several very sensitive cavities filled by you with gold and amalgam with gratifying results, I am of the opinion that the method is far beyond competition. PATRICK HENRY.

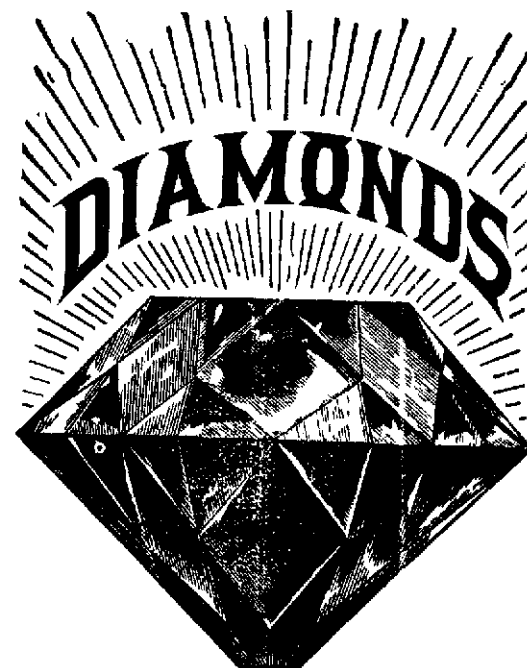

Dr. Porter—DEAR SIR:—In answer to your request for my candid opinion as to the Hale method of painless filling, I beg to state that I went to one of Dr. Lee's finest operators in San Francisco, and he filled several teeth for me with more or less pain; but when he came to the one you have just filled, it was simply impossible for me to endure the torture, consequently I asked him to stop, which he did. I thought I would be obliged to have the tooth extracted. I wish to state that in five minutes after you commenced to operate there was positively no pain; it felt just as if you were cutting a piece of wood. I am so highly pleased with the manner in which you filled the tooth that I feel it but just to express my appreciation of the method. It is all you claim for it. CHARLES HOPE.

Dr. Porter—DEAR SIR:—I have had teeth extracted before by so-called painless methods, but you are the only operator who has extracted teeth for me without pain. Your method of extracting surpasses my most sanguine expectations. MRS. H. PRENTISS.

Dr. Porter—DEAR SIR:—It gives me great pleasure to state that I am thoroughly convinced of the excellence of your method. I expected to suffer dreadfully having the cavity filled, as it was the worst one I had to have done. In not hurt, which it did not during the entire operation. The tooth you extracted is one I have been dreading for eight years, and after consulting dentists in Sacramento, who advised me not to have it removed, as the ordeal might prove injurious to my health and also disfigure my face. You extracted the tooth without a particle of pain, and I will have no further dread of the dental chair, providing I can obtain the Hale Method. MARY E. FLECKENSTEIN.

Dr. Porter—DEAR SIR:—After using Hale's Painless Method as administered by you in the extraction of teeth, I can bear testimony that the results are satisfactory, and that teeth can be extracted painless by said method. Respectfully yours, HENRY J. NEYLAND.

Dr. Porter—DEAR SIR:—I believe that the Hale Painless Method of filling is destined to lead the world in its special field of usefulness. I am particularly impressed with it, owing to the fact that one does not lose consciousness while having teeth filled, and at the same time does not suffer a particle of pain. You are at liberty to refer any one who contemplates having sensitive teeth filled to me. JOHN SHERITT.

To keep your silver bright without constant cleaning, which is injurious to the plated articles, dissolve a small handful of borax in a dishpan of hot water with a little soap, put the silver in and let it stand all the morning (or afternoon, as the case may be), and then pour off the suds, rinse with clear gold water and wipe with a soft cloth.

UNDER THE DOME.

The Building of the City—Its Invasion by the British in the Year 1812.
By C. D. Van Duser.

The growth of Washington city has been slow and steady. It fought its way in its early years against most adverse criticism and untoward opposition. The first sixty years of its growth were exceedingly slow, and it was not until the close of the war that the spirit of modern improvement rejuvenated it. One would expect naturally to find it the metropolis, but an utter dearth of those conditions which give a city commercial importance or lend to its importance as a manufacturing center have retarded what otherwise would have been a rapid development.

A POLITICAL CITY.

Its social and political importance alone has contributed to the growth of Washington. No city can grow rapidly under such conditions; however, such conditions tend to a permanency and a future that must be glorious. The smoke of the factory never reddens the setting sun; the noise of whistles and hum of machinery do not disturb the evening stillness. Bustling and busy crowds do not disturb the even tenor of its way. There is little which is disagreeable in life to disturb the dreamy existence of its social and educational atmosphere. Manual labor is done entirely by the negro population. Such conditions must in time make this city a center of luxurious ease. In such an atmosphere vice thrives. It is not the low, degrading vice the sight of which is abhorrent, but it is vice clothed in the livery of respectability, which makes it doubly dangerous. It is that ease which results from wealth and social distinction. It is the same enervating intellectualism that began to be manifested in the early years of the golden age of Pericles, and, unless checked, its tendency will be more and more toward those conditions that marked the decline of the Roman and Grecian empires. I am a firm believer in the doctrine that history repeats itself. In other words, I believe the time will come when American civilization will decay and die of its own luxurious weight. It is true our forms of civilization are higher than any which have preceded us, but it is a simple process of evolution. From off the ocean of eternity come the waves of civilization. Each makes a mark higher up on the sloping shores of time. If we perish as other nations have, built on our foundations and profiting by our mistakes a higher, grander, nobler civilization will be formed. It is an ever-increasing force and evolution toward higher forms of life.

THE BUILDING OF THE CITY.

The corner stone of the White house was laid October 13, 1792, and that of the capitol in September, 1793. The work was carried on very slowly, owing to the meagre appropriations that were made. The White house was barely ready for occupation in 1800, while only the senate wing of the capitol was finished, and that was afterward torn down. From historical accounts the city of Washington was not very prepossessing in appearance in 1800, when the seat of government was transferred here. The White house and the Senate wing of the capitol were the only buildings of any size or note. Swamps, with a tangle of underbrush and elder bushes, covered what is now the handsome Pennsylvania avenue, while a virgin forest covered the upper portion of the city. A mere bridge path led from the White house to the capitol, and even a roadway had not been cut out. It was a border settlement. Hardly half a dozen substantial buildings had been erected. The population in 1800 was 2,500, and in 1810 it was but 10,000. Those were in the days of Jeffersonian simplicity, and palaces of elegance and liveried footmen were not a concomitant of legislation. Patriotism and love of country filled the hearts of Americans. Legislation was controlled by pure legislators. Statesmen whose wisdom made the future of this country needed no mansions to dine and wine in, nor did they need millions to influence the votes of a high-minded constituency. The indomitable will characteristic of Americans has converted this wretched wilderness into the paradise of today.

Some of the aristocratic cavaliers of Virginia and blue-blooded knickerbockers of New York turned up their noses at the "miasmatic swamp," as they termed it. Their murmurs were loud, and their criticisms severe and sarcastic. Nevertheless, fate smiled on the young giant of American independence, and while it is not to be wondered at that a people who had just come out of war impoverished and with but one priceless possession, and that liberty, were appalled at the task set before them, yet the spirit of genius and discovery that led them forth from the oppressions of the old world stood them in good service now.

INVASION BY THE BRITISH.

Scarcely had America recovered from the revolutionary war when she was again called on to resent British insolence and oppression, which culminated in the war of 1812. Washington city had by this time begun to crystallize and the different forms of government been fully established. Congress had at each session appropriated money to carry on the work of improvement and erecting new government buildings. Most substantial progress had been made, and the city was taking on the hallmarks of progress. When the war of 1812 commenced all attention was turned in its direction. The war had been carried on with varying success, in which the American navy won historic and signal victories. She had been less successful on land, however. During August, 1814, it was rumored that the British contemplated the capture of the city. It was a critical moment. Seven thousand raw militia were ill adapted to cope with 4,000 trained regulars. It was the intention of the British, so history says, to simply levy a contribution on the city. However, they were met at Bladensburg, seven miles from the city, where a pitched battle took place, which resulted in the defeat of the Americans. General Ross sent a flag of truce forward before entering the city. All was excitement. The flag was fired upon, and the incensed British advanced into the city and began to destroy it. They set fire to the capitol, the library of which contained many valuable historical collections, to the treasury, the arsenal and many private residences.

Mrs. Madison, before leaving the White house, hurriedly unscrewed a magnificent oil painting of Washington from the walls, and also took with her the original parchment of the Declaration of Independence, which owes its existence to her woman's wit. So suddenly did it all take place that the White House was vacated by its occupants with supper still on the table. The British came in and, after eating the meal, fired the house. During the conflagration that followed the British took alarm and retreated. A heavy rainstorm completed the destruction of the buildings.

The destruction of Baltimore followed. The people were now thoroughly aroused, and General Ross was killed in an engagement in the attempted capture of Fort Mifflin. It was at this time on board of the vessel Minden during the bombardment that THE "STAR SPANGLED BANNER" was written by Francis Key. The defense made by Colonel Armistead in the fort turned the tide of war, and the British were driven from this part of the country. The loss was a severe one to the city, but it operated finally to its benefit. While there was talk of moving the capital, yet it died out, and the rebuilding of the city began with energy. The successful issue of the war of 1812-15 gave the American people additional confidence, and with renewed hope they turned to recovering from the losses entailed by the war. The city now continued to grow slowly and all improvements were of a most permanent nature. In 1830 Pennsylvania avenue was paved, but the work was exceedingly poor.

In 1840 the population was 24,000; in 1850 it had increased to 40,000, and in 1860 to 61,000. The period from 1820 to 1860 forms one of intense interest. Some of the most famous debates in Congress took place. It was in the days of Calhoun, Webster and Clay, and the period just preceding 1860 was the most momentous in our history. As I am at present confining my descriptions to the city itself, I shall reserve a discussion of this interesting topic for some future letter and give in my next a description of Washington during the civil war.

The Greatest Collection of Violins.
Of the celebrated violins in the world, Edouard Remenyi probably has the largest collection, some sixty in all. His favorite, and the one he will use in the concert in this city is called the "Titan," a Stradivarius, made in 1726, and is without a blemish. Mr. Remenyi consumes more time every day in making the toilet of his favorite instrument than the ordinary society lady would in preparing for a grand ball. This is not time wasted by any means, as new strings must be put on every day, and all four must be perfect. An intimate friend of Mr. Remenyi says he has seen him try eighteen lengths of "E" string before he found one exactly correct, and all of these of the most expensive kind.

There will be a total eclipse of the sun to-day, invisible in North America, but visible in the whole of South America except in the extreme north-west corner. The line of path of totality begins at a point in latitude 36 degrees, 29 minutes south and longitude 96 degrees, 50 minutes west, which is in the South Pacific ocean, moves in a northeasterly direction, and enters South America at Sarcos bay, Chili, and passes to the northeast coast of Brazil and across the Atlantic to Africa.

The Southern Pacific company has materially reduced the rates on east-bound freights. The cut was made to make business unprofitable for the North American Navigation company, which has established a line between San Francisco and New York, by way of the Panama railroad. The reduction made by the railroad is given in dollars and cents per 100 pounds by the Examiner as follows:
Wool in the grease, 75 cents; scoured wool, $1 10; borax and wine, 30 cents; rags, 55 cents. The old rate on greased wool was $1; scoured wool, $1 50; borax and wine, 50 cents; rags, $1. Three months ago the Southern Pacific charged on greased wool $1 50, and on scoured wool $2 50.
About six months ago the rate on borax, wine and rags was $1. To show the meaning of the reductions in another way it can be stated that to-day it costs the merchant $50 less a carload of 20,000 pounds to ship greased wool from here to the Atlantic seaboard than was the case on last Tuesday; $80 less for scoured wool; $40 less for wine and borax, and $65 less for rags.
The reductions from the rates of six months ago are respectively per carload $150 on greased wool; $280 on scoured wool; $140 on borax and wine, and $70 on rags.

UNDER EXCITEMENT.

The Actions of People Influenced by Fear.

In a fire you get very close down to human nature, observes the New York Sun. One night recently an apartment house took fire. There was no time to be lost by the inmates. A mother scantily clad and crying, took out her two little children. A wife buttoned herself in her long newmark and ran, leading her brown-eared setter. A devoted son and daughter on the top floor dressed warmly their helpless old mother of eighty and waited to carry her, if need be, across the fire escape. One woman put on a fur-lined cape over her night dress and came forth with a traveling bag filled with silver. A young widow ran for her new Sunday frock and took down the departed one's portrait. Another came forth fully equipped as for church, in jacket, tipped hat and crimps. Another young woman left all of her belongings and fled in her night dress, blistering her bare feet on the cinders, and ran down the street calling for a carriage. Another got her valuables in her seakink coat, and finding the smoke not too threatening, fished out her long-tailed gown and the black silk silhouettes of her grandfather and grandmother, which she knew she couldn't replace. One man contented himself with a bath robe, another dressed himself in his four-in-hand tie and scarf pin.

Editors' Game Law.

A much-abused editor of a weekly paper published in Ohio, has drafted the following game law:

"Book agents may be killed from September 1st to October 1st; spring poets, March 1st to July 1st; scandal mongers, any time; whale, August 1st to January 1st; the man who waits until the editor is gone from home and then sneaks in and throws half a cord of elm slang in the editorial wood-house in payment for a year's subscription, as well as the antiquarian, two-penny business man, who thinks it does not pay to advertise, may be killed from January 1st to December 31st, without recourse or any relief from valuation or appraisalment laws.

"The Mighty Dollar."

The toilets worn by Mrs. W. J. Florence during her portrayal of the character of Mrs. General Gildory, the inevitable matchmaker, in the "Mighty Dollar," are gorgeous in the extreme. They were especially designed and fabricated for her by the Parisian artist Felix, and bear his imprint even to the minutest fold.

It is not simply the gorgeousness of the costumes that should encourage our people to attend the performance of the "Mighty Dollar," on Wednesday evening next, but Mrs. Florence's reputation as an actress, as well as that of her support, is sufficient evidence that the play is a meritorious one.

Mr. St. Just DeB. Mackay from Australia will lecture on Australian land, labor, railways, sport and social conditions at the Congregational Church on Tuesday evening next. Go and hear him.
